Tax Bill Would Provide 5% Cut

WASHINGTON (U)—A top Republican tax expert introduced a house bill yesterday to cut personal and business taxes five billion dollars. He said passage would "force the spenders in government to do an about-face" and start economizing.

The measure was offered by Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa.), third ranking GOP member of the House Ways and Means committee and an outspoken critic of President Eisenhower's new record budget.

It would increase personal tax exemptions from the present $600 to $650 and provide a blanket across-the-board cut of five percent in both individual and corporation tax rates.

Simpson acted a few hours after the Chief Executive gave the economy-minded Congress a green light to trim 254 million dollars from the Agriculture Department's $5,300,000,000 budget for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Sig Eps Sponsor Spring Breakout This Afternoon

Everyone on campus is invited to the Spring Breakout sponsored by Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, according to Rick Champoux, publicity chairman. The street dance will be held in front of the Sig Ep house on the 300 block of University Ave. at 4 p.m. today.

Three musical groups, the Continentals, the Hawks, and the Serenaders, will provide music for dancing. The Sigma Nu Quartet and the Snakey K Kats will each sing several selections.

Free root beer will be provided by the Sig Eps, and the sororities have volunteered to provide food.

"The jam session will last till 11 p.m. or after if everyone wants to stay," Champoux said. We want everyone to come even if the weather is bad. We'll find a place to dance."

All positions on J-Council are now filled, Dzivi said.

The BYU orchestra, under the direction of Lawrence Sardoni, has been acclaimed by several nationally known musicians as the finest university symphony in the country.

Red Cross Blood Drive Changed to Later Date

The campus Red Cross drive has been changed by the State Assn. to April 16, 17, and 18, Carol Emmerton, president, announced. The last day of the drive will be conducted in the Men's Gym.

Women who would like to work as volunteer practical nurses' aids or typists are asked by the Red Cross to call Miss Marilyn Foster in Dean Clow's office. They want six to eight qualified nurses' aids and three to four typists.

Barbeque, Ceremonial Dances End Annual Indian Institute

The Starr School dancers will give three performances featuring Blackfeet tribal ceremonial and social dances this afternoon and tonight, according to Earl Old Person, group manager. The first performance will be on KGVO-TV at 3:30 p.m., the second on the oval at 4 p.m., and the last at the Field House tonight.

The Field House festivities, beginning with a barbeque at 6 p.m., will conclude the fourth annual Indian Institute which began Tuesday. Problems unique to the Indian have been discussed during the institute.

The dancers are aged seven to fourteen. Old Person said the ceremonial dances, which depict significant phases of Indian life, include the Dog Dance. Dancers must receive permission from tribal leaders to present this dance, he said. Social dances are presented for the entertainment of the audience.

Two Proposals

Yesterday afternoon's session questioned the worth of the two proposals—relocation and new industry—for relieving the Indian employment problem.

Father Kohlman, pastor of St. Paul's Mission on the Fort Belnap reservation, said relocation is suitable for Indians able to adjust to a new environment. He said this plan deprives the people who cannot adjust to needed leaders, who would otherwise help them.

Peter Red Horn of the Blackfeet said many people have relocated themselves and that many, despite the present program, will never relocate. Industry must be started for these people.

Walter MacDonald of the Flathead said a committee should investigate the attempts the Bureau of Indian Affairs is making to get new industry located on reservations.

Dr. Harold Tascher, chairman of the committee sponsoring the institute, suggested setting up a committee to investigate what natural resources on reservations are available for tapping.

Dozen Schools Will Compete In Rodeo Here

College cowboys from six of Montana's state schools will compete for rodeo honors here April 19 and 20 against six other colleges and universities from the Rocky Mountain region.

Montana State College, Northern Montana College, Western Montana College, Rocky Mountain College and the College of Great Falls have notified the Grizzly club that they will send team representatives.

Four Skyline Conference schools, Brigham Young University, Colorado A&M, Utah State College and the University of Wyoming have sent entries. Idaho State College and Casper College have also entered.

Colorado A&M, BYU, MSC and Wyoming were among the four top teams in the Rocky Mountain region of the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Assn.

One of the many purposes of the NIRA is to promote intercollegiate rodeoing on a national scale by bringing national recognition to this activity as an organized and standard college sport.

The MSU rodeo club was reorganized this year and is sponsoring its first college rodeo since 1950.

The National Intercollegiate-approved rodeo will be held at the Missoula County Fairgrounds. The two afternoon shows will begin at 2 p.m.

MSU's Grizzly Rodeo Club is working hard to raise funds so they can send their top performers to other NIRA-approved rodeos in this region, according to Don Bernard, rodeo chairman.

"There are only a few advance reserve tickets on sale at the Field House ticket office," Bernard said. "We have forty special reserved seats over the chutes for each afternoon and only 300 seats in the reserved section. These tickets are $2.50 and $2 for each performance."

All other seats will be general admission. Adult tickets are $1.50, students tickets with activity cards, $1, and children 75 cents.

No previous Sentinel experience is necessary for the positions if students have had other experience in the type of jobs they desire. C average is required to apply and it must be maintained while holding the job.

Kenton's All Stars To Present Dance, Concert in May

Stan Kenton and his All Stars will present a concert and semi-formal dance on MSU campus Thursday, May 2, announced Larry Kenney, ASMSU dance committee chairman.

They will present a concert in the University Theater from 8-9:15 p.m. The dance will be held in the Cascade Room from 9:30-12 p.m. Women will be granted one o'clock hours that night.

Tickets will go on sale April 22 in the Lodge and Music Building, at one dollar per student for each the concert and the dance. People from downtown will pay $1.25 for each ticket.

"Stan Kenton's group appeared in Bozeman last quarter and they were very well received," Kenney said. "They will be playing at Carroll College's spring formal before they arrive here. We are paying $800 for them."

Fifteen Old Men Challenge Craig In Saturday Game

The Craig Hall resident assistants, playing under the name of the "Fifteen Old Men" have challenged the "Craig Hall Boys" to a softball game on the Clover Bowl, Saturday at 2 p.m.

The old men, needing all of the help available, have hired Tom Monahan, Assistant Dean of Students, to umpire the game. The field has been reserved, and if Craig Hall fails to field a team, the "Old Men" win by default.

Rick Champoux, spokesman for the group, announced that the resident assistants have been training heavily for the game. James Sorte, assistant head resident, "has been forcing each team member to sleep with his windows open, and cut down on the cigarettes to 3 per day," Champoux said.

"There seem to be some highly malicious, entirely false rumors circulating that the 'Old Men' have hired an outside pitcher," Champoux stated. "All of the pitching duties will be in the entirely capable hands of Vic Baney, well-known athlete from the mountains of Northern California."

Champoux described last year's contest as a "farce, in which the hard-hitting Old Men scored 27 runs in one inning."

Spring

On days such as we have been enjoying recently, Spring seems near enough to justify those stories of baseball teams getting ready for another season. We look hopefully at the calendar in anticipation of putting away jackets and over-shoes. Buds on the trees and pools of water on lawns are signs that perhaps the real thaw has come to stay.

For Spring is more than a season, it is also a state of mind. Little boys perhaps discover Spring first. They love to splash in the puddles in the streets and make toy boats from pieces of wood. Boys and young men dream of their glamorous futures. Even mature and well-adjusted people may find themselves wistfully re-reading Rupert Brooke.

A mist of green hovers lightly, as trees put out their leaf buds, and with the sun warm on their faces, men and women are glad to be alive.

It is easy to hope and dream in the Spring. Golfers get out their clubs and dream of shooting par, fishermen tie new flies, and engaged girls look at wedding gowns and think of June.

A person would be a true clod, indeed, not to give in to the impulses to relax, sleep in the sun, go on picnics, and hail the arrival of the bock beer season, even if he doesn't like bock beer.

The careless parties and the nonsense times are light-hearted symbols of our enjoyment of this season of growth and birth.

Sometimes this happy season is not in harmony with the plans of those efficient people in gray flannel suits who eventually run things by contorting themselves into a position where they are able to keep their eyes on the ball, feet on the ground, noses to the grindstone and the compass pointing north.

Well, that's just too bad—for them. For us, life is for living. Let's enjoy it.

Attention Students!

The MSU unit of the National Red Cross is having its annual blood drive April 16, 17 and 18.

After the blood is collected from the University drive it will be sent to a laboratory for testing and typing. Then it is sent to a hospital or blood bank.

The Red Cross program stipulates that no one be charged for blood contributed voluntarily by someone else. There is a practice, followed in some hospitals and some private blood bank organizations, of charging a patient a fee for the blood he receives, but refunding it if the patient, his relatives or friends donate an equal amount. This fee is often as much as $25 a pint and is set that high to spur the patient to see that his used pint is replaced.

Blood transfusions were once only used in extreme emergencies. Now they have become a routine procedure in major surgery. Blood is given to build up the patient's resistance and strength, during surgery and convalescence. When a patient needs a transfusion, he rarely needs only one pint. Five pints is nearer the average.

As in any charitable organization there are those who exploit the public under the name of the Red Cross. Many rumors and stories came back with the servicemen that they or one of their buddies had to pay for a meal at a Red Cross center. I think I can safely say that 6 out of 10 stories were started by someone making a false claim for personal reasons, or by someone under the false impression that the service was from the Red Cross. The other 40 per cent could be traced to people making a profit for themselves in the name of the Red Cross. The National Red Cross is checking any story of this nature. All who know of such happenings are invited to send in information.

One simply cannot judge a worldwide organization on hearsay.

THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE FOR HUMAN BLOOD.

The prick of a needle can't compare with the pain on a child's face.

—Carol Emmerton,

Chairman

By ANNE THOMAS

Shakespeare's comedy "Twelfth Night" will be presented at the Student Union Theater May 14, 15, and 16 by the Montana Masquers, MSU College of Fine Arts Drama group. The show will be on tour May 3 through 11.

"The Masquers are entering their fifty-second season of production," Director Firman H. (Bo) Brown Jr. said. "The highlight of the past three seasons has been the annual tour of various cities in Montana."

"Twelfth Night" will be the third spring production to go on tour. In 1955 the drama group presented Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew," and the next season, Shakespeare's "Othello" was given.

The Masquers was founded in 1904 as the Quill and Dagger Society. In 1919, the name was changed to the Masquers and has remained unchanged for nearly 40 years.

In 1904, a figure well known in the theater world, Daniel E. Bandmann, came to Missoula on a western tour. He soon left the theater and settled on a ranch east of Missoula. The same year he helped the society to grow out of its infancy by directing and playing the title role in "Richelieu." This show was followed by productions of "Blow for Blow" and "Richard the Third."

In 1908 the group interested faculty members with its presentation of Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice." With faculty encouragement the group produced "The Imaginary Invalid" in 1910.

Barracks Becomes Home

In 1925 Carl Glick, an alumnus of the group, returned to the campus and remodeled a World War I army barracks into the present Simpkins Little Theater. The Masquers moved into the new Student Union Building in 1936 but returned to Simpkins in 1948.

LeRoy W. Hinze came to the Theater as director in 1947. One of Hinze's early pupils, the present director, Bo Brown, was invited to MSU as a visiting lecturer. During this season, Brown has directed "Skin of Our Teeth."

Postal Service Cuts Set for Saturday

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Postmaster General Arthur T. Summerfield said today that mail service will be drastically curtailed Saturday and will stay that way until Congress votes extra postal funds.

A Post Office Department spokesman had said earlier that action by the committee would be all the "assurance" the department needed that the funds would be forthcoming. But Summerfield insisted on action by both Houses of Congress.

Summerfield left no doubt that he intended to go through with his order. He said it "goes into effect tomorrow night and nothing can stop it except money from Congress."

Intramural Softball Play Quiet as Teams Forfeit

In intramural softball play Wednesday two games were won by forfeit. Robots won from Elrod Hall and PEK won from Shot Rods.

Today's activity sees PSK meeting ATO on Field One and SPE meeting DSP on Field Two. Saturday morning at 9:30 Dukes take on Old Jumbo on Field One, and at 11 a.m. Straps meet Forestry on Field Two.

Ed Chinske, intramural director, reports that the Dukes have withdrawn from the league. Chinske would like another team to take their place. If anyone would like to enter a team in the Duke's place, they are asked to submit a roster as soon as possible.

Today is the deadline for registering for intramural singles and doubles tournaments in ping-pong, horseshoes and tennis. Chinske said he would like more players in all three events.

Indians regarded the MSU campus as a nice camping ground in the early days and used to pitch their tents near the present heating plant.

MSU Golf Team Plays 'Cats Today

The 1957 golf season opens here this afternoon for the Grizzly divot diggers when they meet Montana State College.

After looking over his golf prospects this year, Coach Ed Chinske has decided to play John Boyle, Joe Boboth, Leroy Peterson, and Don Casagrande against the Bobcats.

"With the addition of Joe Boboth this year, our chances for a better season have improved," said Chinske.

Joe Boboth, former state champion junior performer has been turning in some low scores in early season practice.

Biggest loss from last spring's team is Bob Noble, who did not enroll this spring quarter.

Earlier in the week, on the Country Club course, Boboth shot the lowest score, which was par. Peterson had a 79, Boyle, 75 and Casagrande, 84.

In 1897 athletics started at MSU with the organization of the first football team.

Grizzlies, 'Cats Tangle Today

The Montana Grizzlies open the 1957 home season today meeting the MSC Bobcats in two seven-inning games at Campbell Field this afternoon. The first game starts at 1:30.

Coach Hal Sherbeck said he would start either Charley Moore or Ron Stoleson on the mound for the Grizzlies. The rest of the Tip's lineup will include Chuck Bennet behind the plate, Herb White at first, Co-Capt. Lynn Colvert at second, Jerry Daley at shortstop and Don Johnson or Bill Redmond at third base. The outfield will be Co-Capt. Frank Kocis in left, Don Williamson in center and Don Rundle in right field.

Coach Bob Rousey said that either southpaw Joe Redfield or right-hander Keith Strandberg would pitch the opener for the Bobcats. Rousey said he would decide shortly before game time.

Phil Whitner, a freshman football center, will catch for the Cats. Other infield starters include Bob Anderson of Missoula on first, Dave Alt on second, Jerry Haslip at shortstop and Bob Weldon at third.

These games will be the first of the season for Bozeman. The Grizzlies, however, bring a 3-0 record into this series. During spring vacation the Grizzlies took three practice games from Washington State and Idaho.

Next week the Grizzlies hit the road with two games scheduled against Idaho State at Pocatello April 18. April 19 the Grizzlies play their first conference game when they meet the Utah Redskins, defending champions at Salt Lake City.

The individual contestants will compete for a $35 belt buckle to be awarded to the All-Around Cowboy, and for $25 belt buckles which will go to the champion cowboys in bareback, saddle bronc, bull riding, bulldogging and calf roping. Hats, belts and levi's will go to the second, third, and fourth place winners. A $50 trophy will be presented to the best bucking horse team.

Only six designated team members may count their points for team championship and trophy, but each school may enter as many contestants as it desires to compete for prizes and awards. MSU is not eligible to win its own rodeo team trophy. If the Grizzly Rodeo Club should win the team championship, the team trophy will go to the runner-up in team points.
